3 Types of Learning Days Each Week

Remote Learning: Each Monday, students engage in learning at home using their device to login at designated class times. This is the same daily schedule that began on August 31st. Teachers will see all students in a synchronous (live) remote schedule to begin the week with direct instruction and guidance for the week's lessons.

On-Site Learning: Students report to campus on their designated (A or B) day to participate in face-to-face instruction. They will follow their daily class schedule within a structure that prioritizes safety protocols and social distancing.

Asynchronous Learning through Canvas: Students will engage in learning at home by accessing their Canvas (1st-12th grade) or SeeSaw (PK-K) account. Activities and assignments are done independently on asynchronous days, and will be extensions or pre-work of lessons from synchronous (live) engagement days from On-Site Learning days.
